TCF Bank Donates $25,000 to Junior Achievement-Rocky Mountain

In-branch donations will help promote entrepreneurship, financial literacy and work readiness for area students; Donations total $150,000 since 2012

WAYZATA, Minn. and DENVER (July 26, 2017) TCF National Bank (TCF Bank), a subsidiary of TCF Financial Corporation (TCF) (NYSE: TCF), and Junior Achievement-Rocky Mountain today announced that TCF donated more than $25,000 this year with the help of customers, team members, and the TCF Foundation. This money will support local students in the areas of financial literacy, work readiness and entrepreneurship. In-branch donations were collected at 32 TCF Bank branches in Colorado. During the past five years, TCF Bank customers and team members have contributed more than $65,000 to Junior Achievement and the TCF Foundation has granted $85,000 to the organization, totaling $150,000 since 2012.

“TCF Bank is dedicated to creating and nurturing a bright financial future for local kids,” said Kent Engler, director of retail banking at TCF Bank. “We strive to provide knowledge to youth so they can make smarter financial decisions. Whether it’s an elementary student learning to count coins or make that first purchase at a local store, Junior Achievement provides a foundation of financial education that has lasting benefits today and in the future.”

“Junior Achievement strives to impact the lives of today’s youth by empowering them to make smarter academic and economic choices,” said Robin Wise, president and CEO of Junior Achievement-Rocky Mountain, Inc. “We are so thankful for the donation of time and money TCF Bank and its customers have provided to us. These gestures enable us to prepare today’s youth for a better tomorrow.”
